

A COLLISION

During the Start of the Big Yacht Race at South Sea.

The Emperor's Yacht Meteor Runs Down the American Vessel.

Baron Von Sedwitz Hit by a Falling Mast and Dismembered—Several Others Thrown Into the Water—Dead Baron a Great German Statesman.

SOUTH SEA, Aug. 19.—Considerable excitement was occasioned here Tuesday by the disabling of Emperor William's yacht Meteor, and the fact that several of her crew were knocked overboard by the accident. It was the second day's racing under the auspices of the Royal Albert Yacht club, and Britannia, Santanilla and Meteor started in the contest for the vice commodore's cup and £25. Not long after the start the Meteor collided with a yacht, supposed to be Isolda or Samphire. The mainmast of the Meteor was carried away and several of her crew were thrown into the water, causing much confusion and exciting all those on shore and afloat who witnessed the disaster.

Aliso, Britannia, Santanilla and Meteor had started in a race for the Vice Commodore's cup and £25. Not long after the start the Meteor collided with Baron Von Sedwitz's American yacht Isolda. The latter was dismasted, several of her crew were knocked overboard and Baron Sedwitz was seriously injured by falling masts.

Baron Von Sedwitz died shortly after having been removed to the hospital.

Baron Von Sedwitz was a German privy councillor and a member of both the reichstag and the Prussian diet. He has been in parliament for about 25 years, was a leading authority on finance in politics and was leader of the free conservative party. Although comparatively a young man, he was unanimously recommended in 1890 by the state cabinet for the then vacant post of minister of finance, but was not appointed.

SHOT HIS WIFE,

Attempted to Kill His Son, and Then Committed Suicide.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Aug. 19.—A shocking murder and suicide was enacted at 11:30 o'clock Tuesday at 336 Floyd street, a drunken husband killing his wife and then himself after he had made a further attempt to end the life of his 10-year-old boy. Henry Wild, a peddler, lived with his wife and son at Twenty-sixth and Grayson streets. He was addicted to drink, and Tuesday morning he went to 336 Floyd street, where his wife, who is the support of the family, conducts a vegetable stand. He had been drinking most of the night and was in an ugly mood.

His wife placed her hand upon his shoulder and was admonishing him to do better, when the drunken husband pulled a pistol and, without a word of warning, placed it to the woman's abdomen and pulled the trigger. His son, Willie, who was in the place, ran to his mother's assistance and grappled with his father to prevent him shooting a second time. Holding the pistol with one hand, the father and son fought until they had moved across the street, when the son, releasing himself, shoved his father against the wall and then ran. The father then placed the pistol to his head and fired. The husband and wife died within ten minutes of each other.

BOUBKE COCKRAN

Replicates to the Speech of William Jennings Bryan at the Madison Square Garden, Madison Square Garden, New York, Aug. 19.—The mass meeting of the Democratic Honest Money league was held Tuesday evening under the most favorable auspices. The weather was all that could be desired, clear and delightfully cool, and thousands upon thousands of persons turned out to hear Hon. Bourke Cockran's reply to the speech of Wm. Jennings Bryan delivered in the same amphitheater last Wednesday night.

The arrangements for the meeting were on a most elaborate and almost perfect scale. The doors were opened at six o'clock, and from that hour until the speaking commenced a steady stream of people flowed into the huge auditorium.

The Sixty-ninth regiment band rendered a series of national airs while the audience filed in. Every man, woman and child who entered was given a small American flag and a leaflet containing the words of the "Star Spangled Banner" and "America." These songs were rendered by a double quartette, in which the vast assemblage assisted. The small American flags played a prominent part later in the evening, when they were waved vigorously and with charming effect by the audience when it gave vent to its enthusiasm at some of the many points made by Mr. Cockran in the course of his speech.

As persons prominent in political and business life came in and were recognized by the assemblage, the spectators manifested their enthusiasm with cheers and other forms of applause.

The audience was very enthusiastic and the slightest occurrence out of the ordinary set the meeting cheering.

Eighty-three hundred chairs had been placed in the arena of the great auditorium. This arrangement swelled the seating capacity of the building to about 18,000.

At 8:25, when Mr. Cockran came in every seat was occupied. Mr. Cockran was received with prolonged cheers.
